Trinity College Notes.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., June 21, 1901.—A number of students are staying on the Park during a part of the vacation pursuing different lines of study and reading in the college library. These add quite a good deal to the life of the college community during the summer months. The large grove of oaks on the east side of the campus, and the elevation of the college buildings make it very pleasant to work at Trinity through the warmest weather.

Several of the faculty are away spending the summer. Professors Dowd, Durham, Hemaker and Zeller are in Europe. Professor D. L. Flowers and Dr. Edwin Sims are at Chicago University doing work in their respective departments of mathematics and English. President and Mrs. Higgs left this week for a short trip to New York and Boston. They were accompanied by Dr. W. P. Fox, who will spend a part of the summer at Harvard University.

Nearly every mail brings requests for catalogues from this and other Southern and Western States. Already the first edition of this year's catalogue has been exhausted, and the college was forced to get out another edition, which is now in press.

Trinity opens again this summer competitive examinations for scholarships, and it is expected, from the numerous inquiries, that there will be a number of applicants at these examinations. They will be held this year on July 17, at Hartford, Plymouth, Newbern, Weldon, Wilson, Wilmington, Raleigh, Oxford, Fayetteville, Laurinburg, Monroe, Charlotte, Concord, Mt. Airy, Greensboro, Morganton, Wayville, Asheville, Waynesville, Shelby, and Statesville.

HANDSOME DONATION.

Mr. Peabody, of New York, Gives $10,000 to the State Normal and Industrial College

On Saturday night Mr. George Foster Peabody of New York, gave President Melver $10,000 for the State Normal and Industrial College. Of this amount $5,000 is to be used in developing an Educational Park on the college grounds, and the other $5,000 is to be made available for supplying some other need of the college as soon as a certain sum shall be raised by President Melver and the friends of the institution.

The educational park is a unique idea. The college owns 125 acres of land, about half of which is very broken and in forest. This is the exercise ground of the students. It is proposed to beautify the park and to make several miles of well graded walks through it. Each attractive spot—hill, spring, and dale—is to be dedicated to some great educational leader or event, and to be marked by block of granite with appropriate inscriptions. Most of these blocks will be secured by private donations, and it is hoped that various people will provide pavilions and rustic seats near the monuments in which they are most interested.

The students spend one hour of each day on the grounds, and thus incidentally they will become familiar with the story of Archibald D. Murphy, Calvin H. Wiley, George Peabody and others who have made our public school system; with the date of the foundation and with the history of the University, the Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges, Wake Forest, Trinity, Davidson, Guilford and other denominational colleges; with the orphanage work and the benevolent work of the State in educating the deaf, dumb and blind and in caring for its afflicted. In short, there is to be written on stone or bronze in this forest, which is the exercise ground of the future teachers of North Carolina, the educational history of the State, just as the military, church and political history of the State can be read from portraits and inscriptions on the walls of our University and Colleges.

It is intended to emphasize the idea that the deeper and broader development of a State's civilization is educational rather than military or political, however important the latter may be; that the renowned "Victories of peace," so much lauded, are wrought through education and culture.

Whatever history shall be written in this park will be written on the minds and hearts of future generations; for the State Normal and Industrial College will probably never have less than a thousand representatives teaching in all parts of North Carolina.

Mr. George Foster Peabody is a native of Georgia. He is a distant relative of the great philanthropist, Geo. Peabody, whose gift of $3,000,000 to the public schools of the South in 1867 has done so much for this section. This is Mr. Peabody's second gift to the State Normal and Industrial College. His first of a thousand dollars having been made about a year ago. He is a prominent member of the Southern Educational Conference, and was with Mr. Ogden's party on their visit to the South last April. Mr. Peabody is a member of Trinity Institute and one of its best friends.

To Pay Death Claims.

Mr. C. E. Royster, General Agent of the Indemnity Bank Knights of Pythias, received two checks this morning in payment of the death claims of Mr. P. L. Pettus, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mr. Chas. D. Varneck, of Oxford, Ala. The checks were for $2,000 and $1,000 respectively.

LOSS WILL REACH MILLIONS.

A RIVAL OF THE GREAT JOHNSON FLOOD.

A Place of 2,000 Inhabitants Entirely Wiped Out by High Waters—The Property Damage Will Aggregate Millions of Dollars.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 23.—This entire section has just been visited by a flood the extent of which in all probabilities will equal or exceed that of Johnstown in 1889, so far as the loss of property is concerned. Early yesterday morning, shortly after midnight, a heavy downpour of rain began, accompanied by a severe electric storm, and steadily increased in violence until 10 o'clock in the morning, then ceasing for several hours and beginning again with renewed violence. This continued throughout the entire day and night and at 10 o'clock this morning, while the storm had abated, the lowering clouds indicated another terrific downpour at any moment. Many miles of the Norfolk & Western Railroad track, bridges and telegraph lines are entirely destroyed and communication is entirely cut off west of Elkhorn, so that it is impossible to learn the full extent of the loss of life and property, but officials of the coal operations located in the stricken district have sent out messengers to Elkhorn, the terminus of both telegraphic and railroad communication, and have received a report that a conservative estimate as to the loss of life will easily reach 200. Some of the drowned are among the most prominent citizens of the coal fields.

The Pocahontas coal field is located in a basin, with high mountain ranges on either side. Elkhorn creek flows through the centre of the basin which ranges from one-fourth to one mile in width. From Ennis, W. Va., to Vivian Yard, W. Va., a distance of ten miles, miners' cabins, coal company commissaries and coke plants line this basin. Elkhorn creek, being fed by numerous small streams coming from the mountain sides, rises very rapidly and this waterspout came so suddenly that the entire basin between the mountain ranges was flooded and before the terror-stricken people realized what was upon them they were carried down by the flood, which swept everything in its path.

The little town of Keystone, with a population of about 2,000, seems the greatest sufferer, practically the entire town being washed away. This town is the principal one in the Pocahontas coal fields and is located near its centre. It was to a great extent headquarters from which the mining population purchased supplies and was also the only place in the field where whiskey could be purchased. At this place there were some 12 or 15 saloons, all of which were washed away. The report comes that the mining population are now occupying the banks of the streams below, catching the merchandise and barrels of whiskey and beer as they float down. A great number of the coal and coke plants throughout the Pocahontas field are reported practically destroyed and in some instances entirely washed away. On account of the very high water which has flooded the region and prevented communication, anything like a correct estimate of the loss of property is impossible at present. The best information obtainable at 2 p. m. the loss to property is estimated to reach into the millions.

SUNDAY MORNING DRAMA.

Mrs. Robertson's friend was on the scene at the time.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock people residing on West Litchia street were roused from their slumber by the sound of the fire alarm. The alarm bell had rung out in a panic to an alarm from the loss of the corner of West Litchia and Duane streets, for a fire had broken out in the residence of Mrs. Lucy Robertson, on Duane street. When the alarm was sounded the scene the fire was well under way and the house was burning rapidly. By 10 o'clock work the walls of the building still stood, though the house and contents were destroyed.

Mr. Will Robertson was sleeping in the house, and was awakened by the dense smoke in his room. As soon as he realized what was the matter he donned a portion of his clothes, threw some of the most valuable things he could lay his hands on out of the window, and raced for the fire alarm box, which was situated two blocks off.

Mrs. Robertson carried some little insurance, but it will fall short of the damage by a large margin. Nothing is known of the origin of the fire.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT.

The National W. C. T. U. has been granted space in the educational department of the liberal arts building at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo. The wall will be covered with pictures. A large one of Miss Willard, a group of the present National Officers, a large photograph of Rest Cottage, the headquarters of the Society, and a group containing the old Crusade church at Hillsboro, Ohio, Mrs. Eliza J. Thompson (the crusade mother), and the crusade Bible will be among the pictures hung.

Two large wall cases will be filled with printed cards 28x22 ins. setting forth the work accomplished during the twenty-five years of the society's life in the different states, and upon these cards will be mounted photographs of the state presidents. The National organizers, lecturers, evangelists and superintendents will also have photographs. The result of the work in each of the forty or more departments will be shown, and each state president and National superintendent has named what she considers the best results obtained. There will be sixty-six of these cards. Statistical banners of eight of the largest states will also decorate the space. The National has a very large white silk sign lettered in blue.

The exhibit is largely statistical and historical and gives a comprehensive view of the work of the organization, although from the very nature of the case it is tersely stated. Book shelves will be filled with the books and leaflets of the society. The work is under the supervision of Mrs. S. M. D. Fry, national corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Frances Graham, of New York, is chairman of the installation Committee.

When a business man, over taxed with physical and mental work, returns home at night, and rouses himself with whatever he is in the habit of taking, be it whiskey, champagne, or even tea and coffee, he does not add one atom of force to his stock of energy, although he fancies he does, but having put to sleep his sense of weariness, simply appropriates some of his reserve for the present necessity. He has accepted a bill at short date to which a ruinous rate of interest is attached, and his resources will not allow him to make many repetitions of the experiment. His account at the bank of life will soon be overdrawn. Alcohol cannot add one iota to his reserve nervous energy, but it may delude him into exhausting it.

Next Time She'll Take the Necklace.

Chicago Chronicle.
The wife of one Wall Street broker learned a curious lesson during the recent stock whirl. One day her husband saw a chance to make a good turn and plunged. Before going home that evening he was $15,000 richer. "It was like finding it," says the broker, "and when I went home I asked my wife to come down with me next morning and buy a $15,000 necklace I had admired. She said that such a purchase would be extravagant and that she really didn't care for such a necklace. I knew my own weakness for blowing my money that was velvet, but I could not convince her that it was wise to buy the necklace. The next morning when the exchange opened that $15,000 bothered me. I plunged again, not on my judgment, but because I happened to have that money, and this time I not only lost it all but lost as much more. I have never felt flush enough since that time to indulge in diamond necklaces. My wife has always said that it was her fault and that if I ever offer to buy jewelry for her again she will accept, even if we have no bread in the house."

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at all druggists.

Mercury AND Potash

Everybody knows that Mercury is a dangerous medicine even when administered in very small doses, and few constitutions can stand it for any length of time. Potash produces inflammation of the stomach and bowels, and a dangerous form of dyspepsia and often chronic diarrhoea follow its use.

Now, the doctors will tell you if you have Contagious Blood Poison you must take these minerals for two years or longer; first, a course of Mercury, and when your teeth get so sensitive and sore that you can't eat, and the gums have a spongy, unnatural appearance, you are told to stop and a change to Potash is made. When the stomach rebels you are put on Mercury again, and so on ad infinitum, or until the system becomes so thoroughly saturated with these poisonous drugs that the most disgusting sores break out on the body, the bones become diseased, and the muscles and joints are racked with the most torturing pains. Mercury and Potash drive the eruptions and blotches from the skin, but the virus remains in the blood and the reappearance of the old symptoms and the occasional sore mouth show that the poison is still active, and you can never hope to completely eradicate it by this method of treatment.

When I was about twenty-one years of age, or eighteen years ago, I contracted Blood Poison in a bad form, and am satisfied that the rapid progress the disease was making would soon have made me a life-long invalid or ended my life. As my system came under the influence of S. S. S., the sores, blotches and pimples gradually disappeared and soon no evidence of the disease was left. I am now thirty-nine years old, and have seen no signs of it during the past eighteen years. S. S. S. does all you claim for it.
WM. EMERSON, Pevely, Mo.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and we offer $1,000 for proof that it contains any mineral ingredient whatever. The general health improves as the Specific purges the system of impurities, and as new, rich blood begins to flow in the veins the unsightly sores and other evidences of blood poison disappear; strength returns and you are forever rid of this loathsome disease. Our Home Treatment Book on Contagious Blood Poison tells you all about the symptoms, different stages, etc., of this disease. We will mail you a copy free. If you need advice or special directions, write our physicians; it will cost you nothing and may hasten your cure. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

DUE TO WORK OF THE CAMERA

Photography Has Played an Important Part in Philippine Islands.

"I believe that much of the American success in the Philippines is due to the camera," said a gentleman interested in military matters to the Columbus Dispatch writer. "You noticed that a lot of the officers who went out here carried cameras, and in fact they were encouraged to do this. They took pictures of fortifications, prisoners, country, bridges and bays, and in this way commanding officers succeeded in getting a valuable lot of perfect information. In one instance the Filipinos held a bridge and the Americans could not take it without a severe loss of life. One of the officers owned a camera, and he crept up to where he could get a good exposure and took a picture of the bridge, the Filipino trenches and the whole outfit. This was developed and shown to the artillery officers, who were enabled to plant a battery so as to enfilade the works and make the taking of the bridge a very easy task. Again, snapshots of supposed amigos, people who come into the American camps professing loyalty to the flag, upon close inspection showed some of the red-pantalooned soldiers of Aguinaldo's own picked regiment. I tell you that the camera is worth its weight in gold for army purposes, and when used in connection with the balloon is a peach."

SOUTHERN MEMORIAL DAY.

The Decoration of Heroes' Graves is Always Profuse and Beautiful.

The floral displays are always magnificent in the larger cities, and especially is this true of Richmond, says Landon Knight, in Woman's Home Companion. In historic old Hollywood lies the gallant and beloved Stuart, who fell on the field of Yellow Tavern, seven miles away, saving Richmond for the time, and who died a major general at the age of 31. There, too, where the old oaks and elms are swathed in ivy and mantled with mistletoe, and innumerable birds throughout the year pay their tribute of song to the dead, sleeps the old cavalier Pickett, and hard by are the sepulchers of many others scarcely less distinguished. On this day their admirers from all over the country come to lay wreaths of flowers upon their graves. There also, upon a lofty eminence overlooking the falls of the James, rests the president of the confederate states, and by his side the "Daughter of the Confederacy," whom not only the south, but the whole country loved and mourned. And on Memorial day flowers from the hills of Vermont commingle over her grave with those from the plains of Texas and the land of the setting sun as a tribute to her worth and in attestation of a reunited country.

Marriage by Advertisement.

Marriage by advertisement seems to be much in favor in Vienna. A diligent enquirer has counted no less than 598 matrimonial advertisements in the two leading middle-class papers of that city in the course of a week. It is only the middle classes who arrange their matrimonial affairs in this way, and it is curious to notice the number of women who advertise is almost equalled by the number of men. The compiler of this list makes some sad reflections upon the levity and venality of the age. Young men and young women, he says, are no longer ashamed to regard themselves as objects of merchandise which may be put up to the highest bidder.

Every woman in the country ought to know about

Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder how they ever got along without it. It has robbed childbirth of its terrors for many a young wife. It has preserved her girlish figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external liniment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internally are apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy. A druggist of Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it."

WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON Co. ARK., Aug. 4.
I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.

MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

MONDAY, JUNE 24.

THE REVENUE ACT.

There has been a great deal said about the unpopular features of the revenue act passed by the last Legislature ever since it was passed. The talk has been increased this month because it was "tax listing time," and the Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce has called upon the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to repeal or modify the act. This the Governor has very promptly and properly refused to do. Of it the News & Observer says:

We feel convinced that the Legislature will not be called to gather in a special session because of the Revenue Act. That act was passed as the result of the deliberate judgment of the General Assembly after a full consideration, the committee having it in charge, being composed in a large part of business men owning large properties and being interested in all sorts of business, including cotton mill railroad, bank and other corporations.

The act is not radical, but novel in a few particulars, and the opposition to it is characteristic of North Carolinians in opposing new things. When it has been tested and complied with it will be seen to be a fairly good revenue law. It is not ideal and it can be bettered after the experience which will come to us by its enforcement.

The opposition to it grows out of the allegation that it is inquisitorial. This allegation that it is inquisitorial. This is the extent. The act does search a taxpayer and find out from him what he has. There never was a revenue act that did not do this more or less but no harm will come to the taxpayer from the provisions which ascertain the real worth of his property.

Every merchant who does not buy for cash makes a statement in detail of his assets and liabilities before he can obtain credit. If he does this for Bradstreet and Dunn is it any hardship that he should do the same for the State? Any person who chooses to do so can get a merchant's standing from Bradstreet or Dunn. It will be no easier to get it from the tax list.

The chief cause of offense against the Revenue Act, is that it raises more revenue and taxes property that has heretofore escaped taxation, and this can well be borne by the great body of people who pay the taxes.

Our fondest hope is not that any tax collecting measure will ever meet the approval of every body, not a bit of it. And it's human nature for the man who is touched a little more heavily than he thinks he ought to be to kick. We need law makers who have the courage to levy just taxes even when they know there is going to be a kick.

The Negro Problem in South Africa.

Baltimore Sun.

There is an impending South African question of great gravity, it appears, apart from the African question. The natives have been kept from participating in the present war, but not without difficulty. Their number is so great that they will need to be handled hereafter with great care. In all South Africa there are 4,000,000 natives and less than 800,000 whites. The colored population is increasing rapidly by reason of the peace they are forced to keep. The occupation of their warriors is gone, so that time hangs heavy on their heads. In Basutoland and other regions occupied by the natives almost exclusively it is believed that the function falling to the women. But they can with self-respect herd cattle, and so can drive a plow. Little by little, as civilization extends, it is hoped that the warrior will take more kindly to work as an agriculturist. A large beginning has been made in inducing him to work in the mines. In the year before the war began 38,000 Basutos worked in the mines of Johannesburg, Kimberley and Rhodesia. But the masses are impatient of restraint, and it is feared that they will tire of enforced respect for the life and property of their neighbors.

PROF. HOLT REPLIES.

Politicians May Have Been Afraid, But People Never.

Oak Ridge, June 23, 1901.—My attention has just been called to your editorial in which you differ with me about a part of my address before the Teachers' Assembly. In general my address was upon the importance of intellectual supremacy, in contrast to commercial and military supremacy in national life. What I said about the love of liberty and independence of our people had no reference to political conditions or the merits of the different views held as to racial matters. Your editorial gives the whole matter a political turn which it is not my intention to discuss. As I read the political history of North Carolinians, I find that no political party or party boss has ever been so dominant in North Carolina as not to find it necessary to watch the enemy. No election law has ever been so partisan as to be able to hold the party making it in power when the people undertook to change it. Bayonets and courts and election laws have availed nothing. Party bosses have lost their grip here in the South as nowhere else. North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, Kentucky and other negro States have successfully disputed the sway of the party boss, while Croker and Platt are still dominant in New York, Quay is still triumphant in Pennsylvania and Hanna still rides supreme in Ohio.

Platt, Quay and Hanna would be impossible in North Carolina with or without our constitutional amendment.

I cannot believe or concede that the masses of North Carolina have not voted true to their convictions. To my mind it is the least party ridden State I know. It is true some very good men in the State have continued to vote with their party while not accepting entirely some of its new doctrines. This often happens here and elsewhere. A notable recent case is that of Senator Hoar of Massachusetts and many staunch Republicans of that State, who repudiated the recent tendencies of their party and yet supported Mr. McKinley. If a man is to retain his standing and influence anywhere he can not always be on the jump from one party to another. We have never lacked freedom of speech or men who spoke out freely but the trouble has been with some such that they have failed to secure a following.

The Populists of Kansas generally went back to the Republican party from which they had come just as the Populists of North Carolina generally, went back to the Democratic party from which they had come and yet there was no racial question there to drive them back. The great masses of the people of North Carolina have been Democrats because they believed it to be to their interest to be Democrats. That there were hard things said of the Populists when they went off was because people can not stand quietly by and see their homes fired. The Populists went claiming all the time to be "just as good Democrats as ever" and they did all the more damage to Democracy. Those who are crying out for larger liberty are believed to have ulterior purposes and that is why suspicion is cast upon them. If they should come out above board and declare themselves Republicans because they believe in the Republican views of high tariff centralization, colonialism, and imperialism (if you please), they would be respected as other good honest Republicans are respected and have always been respected in this State. Some politicians in North Carolina may have been afraid of their shadows but the people never.

Respectfully,
J. ALLEN HOLT.

A BOY KILLED.

A Pistol "Not Loaded" Did the Deadly Work.

Virginian Pilot.

Yesterday between 12 and 1 o'clock Peter Vincent, a 14-year-old colored boy, had a loaded pistol with which he was playing with another youth about 12 years old named Clayran Wright at Taylorsville, a colored settlement in the county, when the pistol went off killing Wright instantly. The ball struck Wright in the temple. A physician was summoned, but before he arrived the boy was dead.

Justice Rustic was notified and summoned a jury who rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from a pistol shot wound in the hands of Vincent. The boys friends tried to prove that it was an accident, but the jury did not believe it and committed Vincent to jail on the charge of manslaughter last night.

IS HIGH POINT'S CHIEF GUILTY?

THE SLANDER SUIT IS ATTRACTING CONSIDERABLE INTEREST.

Many Prominent Citizens Testify to Good Character of Bennett and Sechrest—Prof. MacKnight and Miss Snyder Each Tell the Story of Their Thursday Night Walk.

With the exception of the gold brick casino preliminary trial in Greensboro has in years attracted the attention given the sensational casenow on trial from High Point. The court house was packed the greater part of Saturday, and this morning a packed house greeted the resuming of the case.

The plaintiffs evince no embarrassment in the courtroom, Miss Snyder paying but little attention to anything passing around her, while Prof. MacKnight seems as much at home as though he were in his college. During the examination of Dark and Miss Snyder on Saturday he kept his eyes on them almost constantly, and to some this fact is significant.

The first witness introduced by the prosecution was Walter Dark, a student in the School of Science and Healing. He testified that he was the son of a Chatham county farmer and that he believed in MacKnight's power to heal diseases without the aid of medicines. He had heard the reports concerning MacKnight and the Snider girl, but refused to believe them, because he knew MacKnight to be perfect morally and a gentleman in every respect. Under cross-examination Dark admitted that MacKnight used hypnotism in his treatment, but denied that he could put any one under his complete control.

Miss Snider was next introduced as a witness for the prosecution. She told of her connection with the Hamner School of Science and Healing, of the subjects taught there, and of MacKnight's method of treatment. It seemed that his forte was in massage and hypnotism. The witness explained on the evening of May 30th, when the disgraceful affair is alleged to have taken place, she and MacKnight were on their way to the home of a cousin to arrange for a boarding place in order that she might be saved the trouble of walking from her home in the country to the school each day. She denied all reports concerning her and MacKnight that affected the character of either, contradicting in every point material statements that were later made by witnesses for the defense. She exhibited a white shirt-waist and a brown checked skirt as the garments she wore on the evening in question and said that since then they had been under lock and key in the possession of Miss Callie Futch, who resides at the Hamner School. After considerable questioning she admitted that she had understood that, when MacKnight first came to High Point, he represented himself to be a single man. His wife came on the scene some weeks ago.)

After the examination of Miss Snider, the prosecution rested the case.

When court re-assembled at 2 o'clock Chief of Police Bennett, one of the defendants, went on the stand and told of the circumstances of his suspicions having been aroused by the conduct of MacKnight and of following the "Professor" and his pupil into a strip of woods on the outskirts of the town on the evening of May 30th. He testified that when he and his companion, Frank Sechrest came upon them MacKnight and the girl were in as compromising a position as is possible for two sexes to be found. They gave as their excuse for their presence in the woods, that they were looking for the girl's cousin, but left after Bennett had delivered a stinging rebuke to MacKnight. He also testified that instead of the white shirtwaist exhibited by Miss Snider, she wore a dark shirt-waist and a light skirt. When asked as to why he followed the couple on this particular evening, he replied that it had been reported to him that MacKnight had been taking girls into the woods at night. Dr. A. P. Stanley, George Henderson, Ed. Henderson, Will Snow and others were also introduced as corroborative witnesses. They all testified that they had no ill-feelings toward the girl and were not actuated by a desire to injure her character.

S. R. Wilson testified that about two weeks previous to May 30th, he saw MacKnight and the Snider girl pass his house one night, and, suspecting something wrong, followed them for some distance. Under the shadow of a tree he saw MacKnight embrace and kiss the girl, and a little farther down the road they turned out into the woods. The witness waited until about midnight, but never saw them return.

The following gentleman were introduced as character witnesses: E. A. Snow, J. Elwood Cox, Postmaster W. H. Snow, Dr. J. J. Cox, mayor of High Point, Prof. D. L. Clark, R. A. Wheeler, F. M. Pickett, Dr. Burton, D. H. Paul, O. R. Hanner, G. A. Matton and W. H. Ragan. They all swore to the good character of Chief of Police Bennett and Frank Sechrest, saying their characters were as good as that of any men in High Point. MacKnight was given a bad character.

This morning Miss Claire Hamner was put upon the stand, but her testimony was not important.

Prof. Harry P. MacKnight was then put upon the stand. He stated that he was thirty-six years of age, having been born and reared in New York state. He spent the first sixteen years of his life at his home, then attended school at Albany. Since that time he seems to have led a somewhat varied life, having been engaged in medical studies and mercantile pursuits; has acted in the capacity of stenographer, and has served a term in the United States cavalry in Texas. He came to High Point last October, in acceptance of a proposition from Mrs. C. A. Hamner to establish a school of science and healing there. The course of study in this school, he stated to be magnetic healing, massage and anatomy and several minor departments, including suggestive therapeutics.

In answer to a question, he stated that in treating a person that person was never stripped nude, that only that portion of the body to which treatment was to be applied, was stripped, and that in every case a woman is treated another woman is present in the room. He also stated that during his stay in High Point he has treated forty-seven patients, all of them being cases given up as hopeless by the medical doctors, and stated further that all these cases had been cured by him.

In answer to a question he described to the court what took place on the night of the 30th of May, telling of the places visited by himself and Miss Snider, and telling of the meeting with Bennett and Sechrest. When asked if he had ever been in the woods with Miss Snider he answered that he had never been in the woods with her, and the story that he had been was the blackest lie ever told against a young and innocent girl.

Much discussion between legal talent engaged in the case, was engaged in as to whether or no the testimony about the occurrences on Friday night was admissible.

MacKnight stated that he saw the defendant Bennett on Friday night when the supposed officers of the law came to arrest him, and that the said Bennett disappeared without coming to his aid when attacked by the mob. MacKnight then told of his arrest by the pretended sheriff and deputy, and the subsequent attack upon him by the mob. He told of how when attacked, he drew his pistol and dispersed the mob and returned to the college.

With this the state turned the witness over to the counsel for defence and court then adjourned for dinner.

DR. TURRENTINE'S SERMON.

He Gets After Those Persons Who List Their Property Wrongly.

Dr. S. B. Turrentine preached an able sermon at West Market Street church last night, in the course of which he gave plain and excellent advice to those men who have failed in the past to list their property at its full valuation. The Master's command, to "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," is applicable in this month of June when taxes are being listed.

The feature especially emphasized in sermon was that a person after conversion tried to make his past right; was not content to make the present right and keep the future right, but wanted to make restoration for wrongs committed in the past.

Instances, many and varied, were cited of men who had committed sin, and whose consciences were afterward troubled by a sense of their guilt, and who fell under the convicting influence of the Holy Spirit, used their means and best endeavors to make amends for their previous sin.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, only a small congregation was present.

Mr. W. A. Turk, General Passenger Agent of the Southern Railway passed through the city last night going to Washington from Raleigh.

Misses Mary and Bettie Faison left this morning to spend some time visiting friends and relatives in Faison, N. C.

THE SATURDAY FIRE.

Building Belonged to R. R. King—Other People Lose.

The third of a series of three fires which usually accompany each other in Greensboro, came Saturday afternoon about 6 o'clock when the brick tobacco factory, formerly occupied by J. L. King & Co., was burned. The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered, and despite the efforts of the firemen the entire building was burned, followed by the falling of the walls. The building was insured for $2,500, a portion of which was carried in firms represented in this city by Mr. D. C. Waddell, and was the property of Mr. R. R. King. The insurance will cover only a small portion of the loss.

Mr. J. L. King had stored in the building a quantity of baled hay, and his loss is estimated to be about $300. Mr. J. W. King also lost personal property to the amount of $100 in the blaze.

While nothing authentic is known of the origin of the fire, three small negro boys were seen to run from the rear door of the building a few minutes preceding the discovery of the fire, and it is supposed that they had been lying on the hay smoking, and set it on fire, after which they were too frightened to tell anyone about it, and simply made tracks. For some time the building has been the haunt of tramps and negroes, and the window panes have afforded a splendid target at which could be aimed the shot shooters of the small urchin. So much was done that it was found necessary to stop it by a police ordinance.

The heat from the burning building was intense, and caused one man to faint. The crowds, variously estimated from 1500 to 5000 people, were kept from the building by ropes and policemen. Each of the four walls fell, but no one was injured except a young boy, Rorer Burch, who was hit in the face by a flying piece of mortar.

The streams from some of the nozzles were weak, so weak that water could not be thrown above the windows in the second story, and too weak to break the glass in the second story windows.

For a while it looked as though the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company's factory, and residences on the opposite side of the street would also be burned, but hard work on the part of the firemen saved them.

FACTS ABOUT COLORS.

Deadly poisons are blue in color as bluestone or the deadly made flower. The color stands in for everything miserable and sing.

Light is a bundle of rays of light orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet all mixed together. The absence of all colors is white.

Each kind of light has its own species. The red rays of light make the leaves of the trees to grow, and all rotting and decay. More if you cut off the red rays plants grow with golden brown leaves of green.

Light has a curious effect on them. They will neither grow nor languish, and yet remain the blue makes them sleep. The blue makes them sleep. The blue makes them sleep. The blue makes them sleep.

A block of wood several inches in thickness was held before the machine and objects on the further side seen plainly. The light is steady and clear and of unusual brilliance.

"The machine is built on principles different entirely from Crook's static machine," said Mr. Blaine. "The automatic machine will work under any and all circumstances, and the light will be clearer and better than that produced by regular apparatus."

X-RAYS IN SLOT MACHINES.

Patent Apparatus of Novel Design to Make Appearance on Chicago Streets.

An automatic machine that for oddity is likely to prove popular is to appear on the Chicago streets within the next two or three weeks. The American X-Ray company is preparing to put out several hundred X-ray machines that will operate automatically on depositing a nickel in the slot.

The other day an exhibition of the new machine was given in the offices of William T. Blaine, president of the company, in the Continental National Bank building. The apparatus is constructed somewhat after the fashion of the familiar picture machines, except a space is left behind the lenses for the insertion of objects.

BLIND HUNTER OF FOXES.

Sightless Marylander Who Was Skilled in Following the Hounds.

William B. Biles, aged 75 years, has just died at his home at Blue Ball, Cecil county, Maryland. From childhood he was blind. He was a man of clear understanding, excellent judgment and was familiar with the current affairs of his country and state. He was an enthusiastic fox hunter, and 20 years ago was one of the best in the state, possessing a fine kennel of hounds. He could distinguish each hound by feeling its ears. He could also tell the color of a horse by feeling. His saddle horse was trained to follow a mule which he used on his farm, and some one of his employees or boys would ride the mule ahead of him on the hunts over the fields and through the woods. He could distinguish the voice of each of his hounds when in close pursuit of a fox.

The Lamp Chimney Industry. In this country about 12,000 persons are engaged making lamp chimneys.

Commanding Attention

There are several ways of getting attention.

You can attract it, draw it, plead for it, ask for it, and command it.

Which would you rather do with your printed announcement?

Everyone who makes things to sell or who does things for money, has something to say to the public.

The way that you say it is as important at least as what you say.

What you say is your part.

The way you say it is ours.

Printing that cannot be turned down, mislaid, sidetracked or overlooked is the kind we do.

It is distinguished printing—printing that not only may, but which must be seen—printing which doesn't simply ask, but which demands and commands attention.

Are not these the characteristics you want in your printing? Then come in and talk to us about the next booklet, folder, circular or other business-bringing printing thing.

A SPRAINED ANKLE QUICKLY CURED.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says George E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington Va. "After using several well recommended medicines with out success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

A BRAVE DEED.

Negro Stops a Runaway Horse on South Elm Street.

One of the pluckiest deeds performed in Greensboro in a long time was done Friday evening about 7 o'clock on South Elm street, by a negro named Shack Austin, who works for the Southern Bobbin Company.

Two ladies were driving in a buggy near the depot, and their horse becoming frightened at a passing train, started to run, coming up South Elm street as fast as he could go. The lady who was driving did not lose her head, and was seemingly not frightened, but simply could not hold the animal, who was running at a tremendous pace. Everybody gave them the road until they passed by Grooms & Fordham's drug store, when from the sidewalk the darkey sprang out, seized the bridle, and running by the side of the horse succeeded in stopping it by the time they reached Ward's shoe store.

One of the young ladies refused to get out of the buggy at all, and remained there until the horse was quieted, and then turned the animal around and drove back towards the station. The crowd passed around a hat and 32.10 was raised and given to the darkey.
